Now doth the busy candidate
Improve each shining minute,
In fixing up a winning slate
And trying to get in it.

The tariff debate is now on in the Senate.

Five men imprisoned in a Minnesota mine for 24 hours were rescued Thursday.

Izzet Pasha is going after the Bulgarians and will try to convince them that it is.

A ship with $700,000 in gold on board arrived at Seattle from Klondike this week.

The Romania army is within 30 miles of Sofia and the king of Bulgaria has sued for peace.

Miss Ruby Wood was killed at Elgin, Ill., when her automobile struck a tree and failed to climb it.

Paducah has lodged a complaint that the I. C. Railroad Company in discriminating in favor of Cairo on lumber rates.

It is asserted that Usurper Huerta is trying to stir up trouble with Uncle Sam in order to unite the Mexicans in fighting a common enemy. Huerta may get hurt.

A. O. Bacon, of Georgia, enjoys the distinction of being the first man ever elected to the Senate by direct vote. A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, will likely be one of the next ones.

George Cruise Jeffers, the Greenville poet, was tried for lunacy Thursday, but the jury found him so much smarter than some other people in town that they turned him loose.

Mrs. Inez Milbolland Boissevain's husband is one of ten children, seven of them suffragette sisters who are married and are the mothers of 25 children. All of which indicates that she may have to give up making speeches.

The widow of the railroad millionaire, C. P. Huntington, who died thirteen years ago, leaving his widow, adopted son and nephew, Henry Huntington, as his heirs, has decided to keep the money in the family and this week married Henry.

Under a new ruling, ordinary postage stamps are valid for postage and for insurance and c. o. d. features on fourth-class mail, and distinctive parcel post stamps shall be valid for all purposes for which ordinary stamps are valid.

William L. Chambers of the district of Columbia, was appointed Commissioner of Arbitration under the new Newlands Arbitration Act. G. W. Hanger was made his assistant and Judge Martin Knapp and Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, are other members of the commission.

The Baltimore Chautauqua announces that Secretary Bryan gets $250 net for each of his lectures in Maryland. As lectures are night work and the government does not require its employees to do double duty, it seems to be in order to suggest to Senator Bristow that Rockefeller made a great deal of money by attending to his own business.

"The White Way."

Henderson is now talking about a white way. Henderson is some town but the council couldn't stand the heat when it was in session a few nights ago and adjourned for cooler weather. Hopkinsville has a white way on Ninth street. With the lights from the two theatres, the big sign over the Electric Light Company's office and three or four other big lights over stores from Main street to the L. & N. station, there's quite a metropolitan air about things.

Miss Marietta Merritt left this morning for Morehead, Ky. where she will spend the rest of the summer.

MOVING ON AT FAIR GROUNDS

There Is A Large Force At Work on The Big Grand Stand.

TRACK READY NEXT WEEK

Accommodations For 150 Exhibition Horses This Year Ready.

Work at the Pennyroyal Fair grounds is moving along with a rush. A force of thirty or more are engaged in erecting the big grand stand.

The track will receive the finishing touches and will be in condition for trainers to begin their work next week. The stable already built will accommodate 150 exhibit horses, and if necessary a greater number can be housed and taken care of.

The next business will be the erection of a poultry department, which will be ample for all needs. It is the intention of the officers, who are backed up by local poultry raisers, to make the poultry display the biggest and best ever held in Kentucky. When it is remembered that one firm doing business here during the past season shipped out of this county to Chicago, $100,000 worth of fowls, some idea can be formed as to how this business has grown.

Another big feature of the fair will be the floral hall exhibit. This is of particular interest to housewives. The directors are going to arrange everything just to suit the ladies who enter the contests for fruits, preserves, jellies, jams, potted and cut flowers and everything belonging to their part of the fair, and liberal premiums are to be given. The fair company is sending out several special programs and, as the canning season is now about on, housekeepers will soon be busy putting up their fruits, etc., for competition. It is hoped that ladies will appreciate what the company will do to make their department one of the most attractive, and get into the contest, and thus help to make the fair the big success already predicted.

Let everybody remember that the fair opens on Tuesday, October 7th, and continues through the week, with exhibitions each night, except Saturday night.

The T. C. Railroad Company, long since put in its side track and will run trains from the station to the grounds about every ten minutes. The Pennyroyal Fair Co., failed to get into the State fair circuit this year, as the other companies had fixed their dates before the circuit was organized, but Mr. Cowherd, the president of the Pennyroyal, says that under no circumstances could a better time have been fixed than the beginning Tuesday, October 7th.

He says that the date suits those who will show their horses at Nashville, Elton and Paducah, thus giving Hopkinsville the same opportunities as if she had gotten into the State fair circuit.

Everything is propitious and all parts of the county are taking interest in the approaching fair and its success, so far as appearances can indicate, is beyond question.

What's the Cause?

Everybody seems afraid to say anything about the scarcity of mosquitoes for fear that the insects may find it out. There are many theories for the shortness of the crop, but theory may go to the bowwows if the mosquitoes will just stay away.

Rich Haul

The theft of a $625,000 pearl necklace is reported in the mails between Paris and London. Imitations of sugar were substituted for the pearls.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION

Before Marriage Should Be A
Law, Think County
Physicians.

At a meeting of the Christian County Medical Society, held here last Tuesday, a committee of three members of the society was named to start a movement to have the next Legislature to enact a law to have all persons proposing to marry to undergo a medical examination before the rite is solemnized.

The society believes this is one of the best ways to crush out the white plague and will doubtless be endorsed by the physicians of the entire state. But there is a great block in the way of the law being operative in this section. We are so close to Tennessee that the law may be evaded at any time by those who want to marry and they will skip off to Clarksville and be married there by the first minister or magistrate they can find. But there's no question about the proposed law being a good one if it could be enforced. Clarksville preachers, but more particular 1/ magistrates, every year scoop in a lot of dollars from Christian County couples who cannot comply with the Kentucky laws as to matrimony. Tennessee's co-operation, after our Legislature has passed the law, would naturally be the next thing to secure.

READY TO BEGIN.

Southern Bitulithic Co. Preparing To Construct
New Streets.

The Southern Bitulithic Co. was given official notice a week ago to begin work on the new street contract and is already shipping in materials to the lot at First and Railroad, used last year. They are required to begin work in ten days after notice is given. The company will upon its arrival repair some minor defects in the surfacing of the streets built last year. Work will be started on Virginia street.

JOHN VENABLE
TAKES CHARGE

Made Manager of the Princess
Moving Picture Theatre
This Week.

A VERY WISE CHOICE MADE

Has Grown Up With the Business for Two or Three Years.

The public will be glad to know that John W. Venable has received a deserved promotion and is now the manager of the Princess theatre, succeeding Eugene Guill, who has returned to Nashville. Mr. Venable is a local boy who started in the moving picture business with George Bleich about two and a half years ago. He was with the Gem awhile and then became manager of the Airdome in 1911. In November of the same year he went to the new Princess with Mr. Bleich and was continued in his position by Mr. Guill in the spring of 1912. It was the proper and natural thing for him to drop into the vacancy caused by Mr. Guill's resignation. The new manager is young for so responsible a place but equal to the task. He is a splendid, well equipped young man, intellectually and by the best of business training, and will be sure to make good. The Princess is owned by the Crescent Amusement Co. of Nashville, which operates 14 theatres in Tennessee and Kentucky, including the only vaudeville theatre in Nashville.

Mr. Venable has engaged Norman Sipher, of Cincinnati, as pianist at the Princess. He assisted in the orchestra Wednesday night. Few changes will be made in the personnel of the employees for the time being and the general policy of the Princess will be continued without change.

HEART FAILURE

Caused the Death of Mrs. M.
A. Armstrong.

Mrs. Miranda Agnes Armstrong died Wednesday at her home a few miles west of Kelly, aged about 75 years. The deceased had been a sufferer from acute indigestion, but the immediate cause of death was heart failure. She was a much esteemed lady and leaves a large circle of friends. Her husband preceded her to the grave some years ago. The interment took place in the family burying ground, near East school house, Thursday.

Four Generations.

Mr. M. H. Carroll has received a photo of a group of his relatives, containing four generations in the group. They are Mrs. Nancy Wilkins, aged 90; her son John B. Wilkins; the latter's married daughter and her little son, Thomas. Mrs. Wilkins is an aunt of Mr. Carroll. Mrs. Wilkins was the 13th child of a family of 14 children and is the only survivor. Her home is at Daysville, Todd county, with her son.

Death of Infant.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Ruby sympathize with them in the loss of their infant daughter, who died Friday morning. The remains were carried to Madisonville for burial.—Providence, Ky., Intelligencer.

Mrs. Ruby is the daughter of Mrs. Lou R. West, 115 East Seventeenth street this city.

At the Avalon.

If you failed to hear Prof. Leffingwell's lecture on Yellowstone Park, when he was here in the spring, don't fail to go to the Avalon tonight. The illustrated lecture will be repeated. No admission fee.

FIRE CHIEF FEARS

Fought Fire With Fury Thursday Morning and Beat His Department.

The consuming element is no respecter of persons as was proven early Thursday morning when E. P. Fears discovered that his home was on fire. Mr. Fears is chief of the fire department and when the fire in his bath room was burning at a rate that would have soon eaten its way into an adjoining room, Mr. Fears told his wife to turn in the alarm while he used the lawn hose. The fire was put out by the time the department arrived, though it made a quick response.

Painters had left some oily rags in the bath room and spontaneous combustion came near being the undoing of Mr. Fears, as he had no insurance. Loss about $25.

WHEATLAND GRANGE

Gives Barbecue With Church
Hill Grange As Guests.

Wheatland Grange, at Casky, gave a barbecue in a grove on the Bradshaw road, yesterday. Church Hill Grange was invited in a body. The new Wheatland Grange is growing rapidly and is already a fine working organization, made up of many of the most enlightened farmers in the county.

MORPHINE FIEND

Tied To Get Dope By Forging
a Prescription.

Late Wednesday afternoon a supposed deaf mute, by the name Arthur Keen, presented himself before Health Officer Harned and made application for a morphine prescription. Dr. Harned refused and the stranger, who says his home is in Atlanta, Ga., wrote a prescription and went to the Averitt-Stowe Drug Company to have it filled. On the refusal to let him have the morphine, Keen went behind the counter to help himself, but Mr. Stowe telephoned for the police and Keen was arrested and passed the night in the lock-up. When arraigned before Judge Wood Thursday morning, Keen was allowed a chance to fulfill a promise to leave town and never come back.

Married in an Auto

Judge Knight often marries couples in his office, sometimes in the County Clerk's office, occasionally in his parlor at home, but he tied the nuptial knot out in the open last Wednesday afternoon for the first time. The bride and groom were seated in an automobile in front of the court house when the Judge uttered the words that made them man and wife. They were Miss Lola Bagwell, of Stewart County, Tennessee, and Mr. W. H. Newton, of Trigg county. The bride is 35 years of age and the groom 50.

Got Long Sentence.

Ed McNeil, one of the boisterous negroes who fired off a pistol on South Main street and was held under several charges, finally accepted a sentence of 1023 days and is now doing time for the city.

Crimean War Hero

Daniel Dowling, an Irish survivor of the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava in 1854, died in the poorhouse at Utica, N. Y., this week. He served 20 years in the English army, but never drew a pension.

IN FORM OF A REQUEST.

Mayor Wants the Naughty Dances Cut Out In This City.

At some of the recent dances in this city, some of the new dances put under the ban in other places were indulged in and Mayor Meacham yesterday requested those giving dances in the city to discourage any indulgence in the turkey trot, bunny hug, grizzly bear, tango or other such dances calculated to cause unfavorable criticism. The same request will be made at other places where balls are given. It is believed that a request will be all that is necessary to stop such dances in the city, as public sentiment is strongly against them.

These dances were this week barred on the excursion boats at Paducah and they are practically being suppressed in many of the larger cities.

J. H. EGGLETON

Former Hopkinsville Man Dies
This Week.

Mr. John H. Eggleton, who was for a number of years a prominent tobacco man of this city, died in Louisville July 16, aged 66 years. The burial was in Cave Hill cemetery yesterday. Mr. Eggleton was a member of the Baptist church and was a good man and a clever gentleman. He moved to Louisville several years ago.

TOBACCO MEN

Are Planning To Have Another
Barbecue.

The barbecue given by Col. J. P. Thompson, on the farm of B. Gordon Nelson not long since, was so enjoyed that the tobacco men are talking about repeating it soon. The orators and singers have not yet been named, but it is presumed that the same gentlemen who distinguished themselves on the first occasion will be on hand.

THREE THINGS YOU NEED...

First—

"Kentuckian"

A vital, newsy newspaper with the interest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled without fear or favor. You will find in this paper an up-to-date department for every member of the family. Clean, honest, straightforward—it is a paper your family should not be without.

Second—

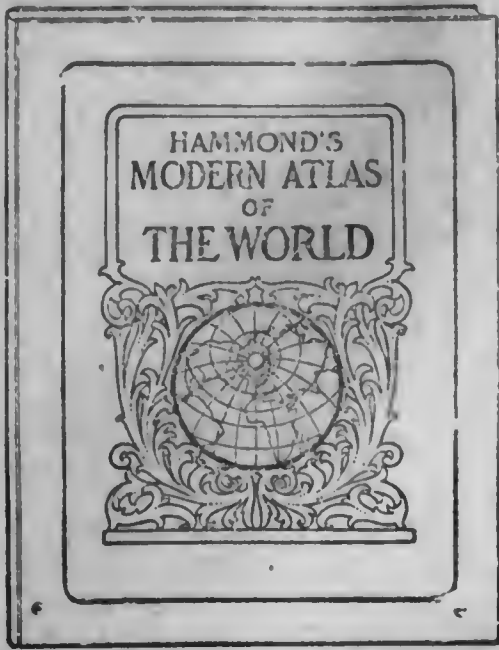

Technical World Magazine

Is the one magazine that not only entertains in a fascinating manner, but which also instructs. It is the magazine for the busy business man, or for the person who wants to lull away a summer's afternoon, and be extremely informed at the same time. It is profusely illustrated, and tells in a simple and interesting way of the discoveries of scientists, the achievements of inventors, the facts of engineering and exploration, and the opening of every new field of human endeavor. What Jack London says: "I have just chanced upon my first copy of TECHNICAL WORLD MAGAZINE. There isn't anything like it. I want more, and I cannot wait for them to come, so I am sending you herewith check for which please enter my subscription and send me immediately the last two years' back numbers."

Third—

A Fine Atlas

This one is off the press. This is the year to obtain a new atlas. The 1910 Census has just been completed, this atlas contains the official figures, 128 pages of 8 color maps brought right down to date—every map giving the results of the most recent surveys. All railroads are shown and named and maps of all large cities are included. There are 21 double page maps showing in detail sections of the U. S. and Canada. Dimensions 10 1/2 x 13 1/2. Bound in stiff linen—Silver Leaf Title—printed on heavy plate paper. Sells regularly for $2.50. A splendid gift.

ALL THREE
Only $3.80

Special arrangement with Technical World Magazine and the publishers of this Atlas make this offer possible. But it is very strictly limited. You must act immediately.

Kentucky Public Service Company
INCORPORATED

Colon, C. Z.—Frequently the officials of the Republic of Panama—the minor ones—have been ridiculed for the combination of stupidity and pomposity that governs their conduct. Sometimes the ridicule is not deserved, but often it is. Some months ago an American resident of the city of Panama imported a pair of riding boots from the states, and in his manifest submitted to the native customs authorities he so listed them, with the price, $9.50. The paper was returned to him with curt instructions to correct it. Not knowing how he had erred, he consulted the customs man and was told the boots must be listed as two separate articles, thus: "One riding boot, value $4.75; one riding boot, value $4.75." Mr. American complied silently, and received his boots.

The Isthmus of Panama does not belong to the English, never did, and there are not many real Englishmen there. Yet the presence of a large number of British subjects—the Jamaican negroes—has forced on the inhabitants an English custom, that of vehicles taking the left side of the road. Probably this is due to the fact that most of the cab drivers are Jamaicans. All the people of that island are intensely proud of being subjects of King George, and they are tenacious of such British customs as they know. Every cabby in Panama and Colon—and their number is legion—carries either a bicycle gong or an automobile horn with, which to warn other vehicles and pedestrians of his approach, and on a busy day the noise is more unpleasant than that of the blasting in the Culebra cut.

Speaking of the blasting reminds me that one of the very high up engineers on the canal job is exceedingly afraid of dynamite. He is also a strict disciplinarian and does not allow the workmen to loaf. Whenever one of the frequent "doby shots" or small blasts is to be fired, the nearest steam shovel emits a series of short, quick toots and the men scurry to cover. As soon as Mr. Engineer appears in the cut to see that the laborers are losing no time, the warning whistles are heard from steam shovels all along the way and he speedily returns to his office on the hill, leaving the unprodded workmen to resume their leisurely gait.

Tourists flocked to the canal zone in such increasing numbers that the Panama Railway company—which means the United States government—decided to erect a new Washington hotel in Colon to supplant the old hostelry of that name. The architect designed a handsome four-story structure of concrete and, to take full advantage of the cool breezes from the Atlantic, provided in his plans for a large roof garden and two dumb waiters running up to it. The builders made the roof all right, and put in the dumb waiters, but when the hotel was nearing completion some one discovered there was no opening in the roof for the aforesaid dumb waiters. The necessary changes would cost several hundred dollars, and the government official who passed upon the expenditures decided against making them as the hotel already had cost more than had been expected. Consequently those two dumb waiters run up to the ceiling of the fourth story and there stop, while the roof garden, having no service, remains unopened.

Charlie Ying, a moon-faced celestial, had prospered on the isthmus and decided not long ago to open an "American bar." He knew some English for he used to work on the docks at Canton, but when it came to the important matter of wording his sign he thought best to consult another Chinaman, who formerly lived in Chicago. This was the result of their joint effort:

AMERICAN BAR
WE SERVE WHISKY COCKIES
AND GIN RICKTAILS.

Close to the shore of Taboga island, so close, in fact, that they are connected at low tide, lies a little, rocky, wooded islet known as Morro. For many, many years it was owned by a Spanish family, the present representative of which is a widow of small means. On Morro is a flowing spring of excellent water, and one of the Pacific navigation companies desired to acquire the islet as a watering station for its vessels. The widow was paid a fair price, and as a bonus was given life passes for herself and her children on the boats of the company. No sooner had the deal been consummated than the estimable lady packed up her duds, stored her household belongings and with her family boarded one of the steamships for a trip. The journey was so pleasant that they have been traveling continually on the company's ships ever since, and the man who engineered the purchase of Morro is wondering who got the best of it.

Panama City's water supply is derived from the Rio Grande reservoir, a little lake quite close to the canal. For obvious reasons bathing or wading in it is forbidden, and all around it are signs stating that fact. Recently the wife of a member of the canal commission was entertaining friends from the states, and in the course of their wanderings one day they came upon the reservoir. They were tired and dusty and the cool water looked so inviting that they all took off their shoes and stockings and went in wading. Unfortunately for them, one of the efficient zone policemen came upon them and arrested the whole party. They were taken before the nearest magistrate, and despite the pleading of the commissioner, who had been hastily called to the rescue, each one was compelled to pay a fine and listen to a sharp lecture on law-breaking and sanitation.

In one respect at least, Panama is like no other Latin-American city that I have seen. It has no distinctively residence quarter. "Now that we have seen where the people do business, let's see where they live," said I to my amateur guide.

"You have been seeing that too," was the reply. "The people live over the shops in all parts of the city—all the people, including the wealthy ones. The latter, however, also have beautiful country places in the savanna lands a few miles away, and spend much of the year there."

The asylum for the insane on Ancón Hill is inhabited mainly by negroes from Jamaica and Barbados. These colored folk seem to go crazy in large numbers, and I asked a doctor there the reason. "Run and religion" was his terse reply. "They use a lot of both, and not much is needed to throw them off their mental balance."

One of the Jamaicans in the asylum spends every evening sending vocal "wireless messages" to the governor of his home island, telling him how badly his compatriots are being treated on the isthmus. He utters the words of the messages with a sputtering explosiveness that is curiously like the sound of the wireless sender.

Visits of congressional investigating committees are no novelty to the people who are making the canal. Neither are they any pleasure. It is the general belief down there that these are mere junkets, and it must be admitted that the visitors often show a colossal ignorance concerning the canal. Colonel Sibert, engineer in charge of the Atlantic division, one day spent hours showing a congressman over the Gatun locks and explaining it all to him. When the colonel concluded his little lecture the lawmaker clasped his hands behind him, gazed about and remarked ponderously: "Well! So this is the famous Culebra cut! I'm glad I've seen it and learned more about it."

Poor Colonel Sibert collapsed.

Nobody now lives where once stood the proud city of Old Panama—that is, nobody except one old native woman who has a little shack by the beach and sells liquid refreshment to the thirsty tourist. Her stock includes various soft drinks, beer and, hanging from the walls by strings, bottles of imported champagne. These last look as though they had been hanging there since the day when Morgan and his buccaners departed from the ruined city.

BIG ATTRACTION

At the Rex Today, "The Witch" Being the Chief Feature.

The patrons of the Rex theatre will find a good selection of movies today. The leading play is "The Witch." The play is a wordless tale of life in the days of the early New England Puritans, and Misses Julia Stewart and Milly Bright and Messrs. Alec Frances and Robert Frezer and the other members of the cast all did their finest acting when the play was staged by the Eclair company for the films. There are many critical situations, scenes that have a powerful pull at the heartstrings, one of them being the stoning of the Witch's daughter.

The other reels are all good and the bill for today and tonight is one of the best week-end offerings seen for a long time.

Miss Ruth Fritz entertained Thursday night in honor of Miss Maud Kerner, of Kernersville, N. C., and Miss Martha Jackson.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

CHAMPION POWERS

Two Young Salesmen Claim the Speed Record.

W. D. Porter and Leslie Burrus, with the O. G. Sprouse Co., claim to be the champion oarsmen of the city. Wednesday night they went out to Edgewater Park and started for a row up stream. When they reached the dam at the pumping station they had the assistance of two colored men in carrying the boat above the dam and then started up the river. The distance from their starting point to their stopping place was 3 1/2 miles. They arrived at their starting point in 38 minutes, distance 6 1/2 miles. The keeper of the boathouse says that beats all records.

Toe Oldest Tobacco Peg.

We have reported several old tobacco pegs in use in the county recently, but so far Mr. J. H. Mashburn, who lives four mile north east of here, seems to be entitled to the honor of owning the oldest one. He told us Monday that he has a rod cedar tobacco peg that he has had for twenty-eight years. This beats Messrs. Wiley Stewart and Tom Phillips—Caldiz Record.

We have one in this office that beats any of those mentioned by the Record. It was made by the father of Mr. Wm Cravens, and is 75 years old. It is a red cedar peg and is as sound as the day it was whittled out by Mr. Cravens, in the of 1838. People who have never lived on a farm do not know what a tobacco peg is. Ordinarily they are about seven inches long and are used by tobacco settlers to make a hole in the ground in which the tobacco plant is set.

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Baltimore, Md. — "My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I dreaded it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work." — Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1260 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

Cut Rate Drug Stores

The high cost of getting well is reduced 25 per cent by some of the proprietors of the drug stores in the city. Everybody welcomes the innovation. It is good for everybody as well as the proprietors, but it takes the spot cash to work the scheme. It's economical, too, for a man always buys more when he has it "charged." So the rate will really be a saving of about 50 per cent.

Those Bad Spells.

Lebanon, Ky. — Mrs. Minnie Lamb, of this place, says: "I believe I would have been dead by now, had it not been for Cardui. I haven't had one of those bad spells since I commenced to use this medicine." Cardui is a specific medicine for the ills from which women suffer. Made from harmless vegetable ingredients. Cardui is a safe, reliable remedy, and has been successfully used by weak ailing women for more than fifty years. Thousands of women have been helped back to health and happiness by its use. Why not profit by their experience? A trial will convince you that Cardui is just what you need.

Bob Taylor Lives,

In the two bright and beautiful books just issued, "Lectures and Best Literary Productions," and "Life and Career" of Senator Robert Love Taylor, handsomely illustrated, you cannot hear again his voice or see the humorous curl of his lips that convulsed a continent with laughter, but, within the covers of these volumes, are the pictures woven of his wondrous words, and, laughing through their sunny pages, are all of the inimitable stories which he told to the multitudes. In "Life and Career," pens of genius have traced his romantic life from its morning in "Happy Valley," through his young and rosy dreams through stress and storm, through cheering throngs, and on into the waiting shadows, loved and laurel crowned.

We expect to sell millions of these books. First edition going fast.

BUILDS A SIXTEEN-FOOT TOY

Memphis Man Works Hard Best Part of Year at Something to Please His Small Grandson.

Pictuue a grandfather, aged seventy-three, working the greater part of the year on a composite mechanical toy that will please his little grandson at Christmas time. That man is J. G. Handwerker of No. 866 North Seventh street, Memphis, Tenn. Each winter he evolves something out of the ordinary for Earl Becker, his ten-year-old grandson. But the best part of the work is that it is good for the entire year and is a delight to grown-ups as well as youths. There now is in operation in his home a mechanical production that is the envy of the neighborhood children and is visited by many adults who marvel at the patience and the precision required to produce the spectacle. The toy extends entirely across a sixteen-foot room. It represents a mountain surmounted by a Christmas tree that reaches to the ceiling. In the foreground, scattered over the mountain, are thirty mechanical figures. A bucking broncho is trying to throw its rider, an elephant is beating a drum, a housewife is shown sweeping before her electrically lighted home, and several automobiles are seen ascending the mountain. A monkey climbs up and down a rope suspended from a tree and there are other trained animals. The entire spectacle is driven by springs, belts and pulleys.

SAILOR REFUSED A THRONE

Dusky Princess Went With Offer of Rulership, So He Went Back to England.

The death has occurred at the age of ninety-three of Capt. Philip H. Nicholls of Manchester, England, who had a long and adventurous life on the sea.

A native of Sidmouth, Devon, Captain Nicholls became a sailor when he was thirteen. For thirty-five years he followed his profession, and among his ships was one of the famous "tea clippers" which made quick passages from London to Hongkong before steamships became common.

His strangest adventure was when he was cruising in the Pacific. At the Sulu islands he became a favorite with the rulers, who conferred royal honors on him, presented him with the sword of state and other regalia and offered to give him an island for himself if he would settle there.

But the gallant captain discovered that in the background was an alliance with a dusky princess. His affections were already engaged, so he rejected the offer and returned to the sea.—New York Herald.

TROOPER SLIGHTLY IN ERROR

Thought and Asserted Himself to Be Better Than His Officer, but He Was Not.

Major General Sir Frederick Carrington, who died the other day, was in his earlier years one of the best boxers in the British army. His principal services to the empire were rendered in South Africa, and it is told that among the Bechuanaland police he was known as "Fighting Fred," because he had brought that famous force up to its high state of efficiency by thrashing every man in it.

In this connection the story is also told that during the Zulu war Carrington having been placed in charge of an irregular regiment, noticed that one of the troopers, who probably imagined that he had only a "haw, haw" officer to deal with, deliberately failed to salute him.

"Why don't you salute me?" remanded the general. "Because I'm a better man than you are," was the insolent reply. "Indeed," said the general, "we'll soon see about that," and five minutes later the "better man" was carried senseless into his tent. And next morning the general had the offender up before him and gave him three days' C. B. for "fighting in camp," a sentence, however, which he promptly remitted.

British Cows Which Eat Fish. Dried codfish, unsalted, is eaten by the inhabitants of the Faroe Islands (between Shetland and Iceland) or their cows, says a consular report. The fish, which is of the cod type, is considered good for cows, as it enables them, it is stated, to yield an ample supply of rich milk. The dried fish is not cooked before being eaten; it is merely laid on stones and then pounded with stones or hammers.

Will Destroy Moths. It is said that the following destroy moths, eggs and larvae in closet: Place a brick on the floor the closet and on this a tin of kerosene. Heat a brick until it becomes very hot and then put it in the closet. Pour hot, strong vinegar on this brick then close the door and keep it closed for 24 hours. The steam from the vinegar will kill any live thing that may be in the closet.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the price of a Weekly.

No Other Newspaper in the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

IN BANKER'S HANDS MANY QUEER CURES

Postal Savings System Under Man of Experience.

Former Governor Dockery, Who Devoted Many Years to the Banking Business, Now Supervises the Deposits.

Washington.—For the first time since its inception the postal savings system is to be administered by an experienced banker. Third Assistant Postmaster General Dockery, before he became interested in wider political life, was in the banking business. As far back as 1866 he organized with the assistance of a coterie of his financial friends the Farmers' Exchange bank of Gallatin, Mo. Later he became its cashier and remained such until 1882.

While in many respects the postal savings depositories are widely different from banking institutions, in the ordinary acceptance of the term, still there is much similarity noticeable, and for this reason, more than for any other, it is said. Postmaster General Burleson was influenced to call to his assistance in the administration of the new system that means so much to the saving population of the country the experience of a trained banker.

The last reports that may be said to be complete thus far cover the system up to March 31 last. At that time there were 12,823 depositories, located at 12,160 postoffices, of which 8,222 were of the presidential class and 3,938 were fourth-class offices. The number of depositors at that date approximated 335,000, and the amount on deposit about $23,500,000, or an average of about $100 per depositor.

Alexander M. Dockery.

About $21,600,000, or more than three-fifths of the entire deposits, were held in 251 postoffices, each of which recorded deposits amounting to $15,000 or more; $15,000,000, approximately, was held in 37 offices, each holding about $100,000 or more.

New York leads the list with deposits amounting to $2,366,049, with Chicago second, $1,689,024; Brooklyn third, with $876,091, and Portland, Ore., the leading city in the west, fifth, with $718,745. Washington ranks twenty-seventh, with $153,560, and Astoria, Ore., the lowest on the scheduled list, thirty-seventh, with $107,506.

In addition to this big sum in deposits, representing the savings of the country, so far as the postal system is concerned, $2,359,120 of the depositors' savings have been converted into interest-bearing 2½ per cent United States bonds.

While the faith of the United States government is specifically pledged to the return of the money when demanded, the deposits, under the law, are for the most part in solvent banks organized under national or state laws and subject to national or state supervision, including savings banks and trust companies doing a banking business. Of these 7,248 institutions have qualified as depositories, including 3,808 national banks, 2,412 state banks, 401 savings banks, 572 trust companies and 54 "organized" private banks.

A story is going the rounds on Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels.

It is said that after an experience in a Washington hotel where he was to be one of the principal speakers at a banquet the North Carolina secretary remarked that he is meant for the life of a country town.

Arriving at the hotel, so the story goes, Secretary Daniels took an elevator for the banquet hall, where he was met by a distinguished looking man who apparently was a foreigner. With typical southern courtesy, the navy secretary bowed.

"I'm glad to see you," he said. "That foreign person of distinction should take an interest in our politics is gratifying to me. We are a new people, sir, but—"

"The distinguished looking man" interrupted with—

"Name and number, please?"

"Name and number?" repeated Mr. Daniels. "What number?"

"The seat number," answered the other. "But you give me that, I'll find your seat for you."

"Are you a waiter?" asked Mr. Daniels with amazement.

"If you please, sir."

"Then, by George, you should change your uniform so I could tell you from the guests of honor," said Mr. Daniels.

Quaint Remedies of English Peasants Described.

Keys With Pieces of White Bone, Copper Rings, Mole's Feet, First Tooth, Flint, and Witch Cake as Charms.

Quaint remedies for all manner of troubles and diseases declared by peasants in many parts of England to be most efficacious were described by E. Lovett in a fascinating lecture at a meeting of the Folk Lore society in London.

Charms and amulets, relics of mediaeval superstition, still exist, it appears, in many of those counties which are washed by the North sea. They are, however, gradually dying out; but while they exist they provide a splendid field for research. Mr. Lovett brought with him about 20 or 30 neat little glass boxes, each of which contained an object about which a wonderful story could be told.

Old keys are regarded as powerful charms throughout East Anglia, and although Mr. Lovett offered five shillings for an example with a piece of white bone attached, which he saw in the keyhole of a barn, so great was the belief of the country people in its power that the rustic at once refused the offer. Great reverence is also felt for stones with holes in them. Round about Thetford they are hung by a piece of string to the cottage doors as a preventive against the visits of witches or the devil.

For cramp it is averred that the one satisfactory cure is the skin of an eel, while at Brandon, when one is afflicted with rheumatism, immediate recourse is had to the simple expedient of tying up a potato in a cloth and carrying it about in one's pocket.

The Norfolk peasants always regard pointed flints as thunderbolts. So consistent are the simple folks that they will often assure you that they picked them up red hot. They carry flints and stone arrowheads about with them in the belief that this custom will prevent them from being struck by lightning.

Around about Flamborough Head "witch cakes" are to be met with in almost every cottage. These are circular shaped, with a hole in the middle and with spikes projecting on all sides. If you hang one up in your cottage and once a year burn it and replace it with another you will have good luck, we are told. At Scarborough there lives an old fisherman who is supposed to possess a special faculty for curing rheumatism. He sells the "patient" a copper bangle and a copper ring. A special feature is that on the ends of the bangle there must be wedged two small bone brass cart-ridge cases.

The fishermen of Whitby have a special charm against drowning without which they would never venture out of port. It is a little hammer shaped bone known as "Thor's hammer"—from the head of a sheep. In many parts toothache can apparently be cured by carrying a mole's foot, while in Sussex the same article will surely cure cramp. Two little hearts made of polished amber, with small holes pierced in them, are worn by fishermen in the north as a cure for rheumatism.

In Suffolk a girl always keeps the first tooth she loses—in some districts the milk tooth and in others the first "second tooth." When she marries and has a child she wraps the tooth up in a dainty little silk bag and suspends it from the infant's neck while teething. It is said to bring instant relief.

Mr. Lovett told of his difficulty in many cases of discovering what good the charms was supposed to accomplish. It often took him weeks of patient endeavor before he could find what he wanted to know, so reticent are the country folks.

In a discussion which followed other members told of wondrous charms and remedies. Amputated limbs are in some cases preserved so that in the next world the crippled person may not be deficient in that respect. In public houses in parts of the east end all pieces of "silver paper" are preserved, moistened with beer and made up into one large ball. This, hung up, is a preventive against the visits of witches. Thistle heads carried in the pocket also cure toothache.

Talked in Vain.

"This, madam," said the house agent, "is the larder. You will observe that it has a brick floor and slate shelves, which keep the meat delightfully cool. The marble slab is designed to hold a week's supply of fish. That patent ventilator causes a constant current of fresh air to circulate round the game, so that your pheasants will never be too high for reach; and here we have hooks for joints not required for immediate use. The fact of its facing south is a great advantage, as new-laid eggs placed near the window in the morning will often turn into spring chickens during the afternoon."

"You may spare me further details," remarked the lady, acidly. "We are strict vegetarians."

Speaking of Footprints.

"Johnny," said the teacher, "what is meant by 'footprints in the sands of time'?"

"I don't know," replied Johnny, "but I wish you'd have heard what father said about that party that stepped on our cement sidewalk before it was dry."

SOUGHT BY THE "SPOONERS"

Certain Places Where Victims of the Wiles of Cupid Can Show Their Fondness Unperceived.

"Have you ever noticed that spooners prefer to ride on the rear seats of open trolley cars, where it is almost impossible to watch them?"
remarked a man who does considerable riding in surface cars. "Well, the next time you have occasion to ride in an open trolley car you keep your eye on the rear seat and see if my words are not true.

"Many a time when I would like to get a place on the three rear seats
I was prevented from doing so because they were all occupied by spooners. They prevented me from enjoying a good smoke. But I'm not selfish. As long as they obtain the seats first they have a perfect right to them, of course, and they don't have to move until they want to."

"While I agree with your remarks, responded another man, "I think that I have discovered the most popular place of all for spoon-ers when it comes to a question of vehicles.

"Some time when you ride on a stage on Fifth avenue notice on the right hand side of the stage a small seat with just enough room for two.
Now in the day time you will notice that the seat is just ordinarily popular; people use it no more than other seats on the stage. But in the evening, when the moon gives the only light, you will have to go down to Washington square to obtain that seat. The spooners get to the square early and struggle for the seat.

"It is located in such an out-of-the-way place that they can hold hands all the way up Fifth avenue and Riverside drive without anyone seeing them."—New York Herald.

Mrs. Newwed—Dearest, I made all this cake myself.
Mr. Newwed—Little one, you're too light for such heavy work.

LIVING MAJOR GENERALS.
Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, whose home is in Council Bluffs, Iowa, is one of three surviving army corps commanders, the other two being Sickles and Gen. James H. Wilson.
General Dodge is the last surviving general commander, however, having been in command of the Army of the Tennessee and of the Department of Missouri. He was major general at the age of thirty-two years, reaching this rank in 1864. At that time, he says, he had in his command a brigadier general, in command of a brigade, who was barely twenty-two years of age.

MODIFIED VIEWS.
"You once said it was a disgrace to die rich."
"I have changed my mind," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "It is not a disgrace; merely a misfortune."— Washington Evening Star.

PLAIN FACTS.

"No; and who wants to? Leather goods are all the go."

a living out of his verse."
"Yes, and he is being severely criticised for it, too."

FAILED TO SPECIFY TRIP

Under the Circumstances Official Naturally Was Nettled at His Friend's Remark.

A Kansas City official of the Colossal railroad was one of a number of directors on a recent trip to the Pacific coast, an excursion which combined a little business with much junct. They were gone about ten days and a fortnight elapsed after his return home when he was called to Ohio to attend the funeral of his wife's mother. One of his associates, who had heard of the hilarity indulged in on the western trip, but knew nothing of the later journey to Ohio, met the official at a club after his return and paused a second to greet him.

"Howdy, colonel. I guess you had a grand time while you were away, didn't you?" and he gave a sagacious smile to show that he had heard about it.

The other looked up from his paper and grunted "uh-uh" with an expression of vague surprise.

The friend went on to the billiard room to join some of his intimates, and in a few minutes the official got up and followed him.

"Say," he said, taking him by the arm, "what did you mean by asking me if I didn't have a grand time on my trip? Don't you know I just came back from burying my mother-in-law?"—Kansas City Star.

PLENTY OF IT

BALKAN PERFUMERY.

One of the incidental consequences of the conflict in the Balkans is the rise in the price of perfumery.
Of attar of roses Bulgaria is said to have practically the monopoly.
Various attempts have been made to create a rival product both in the chemical laboratory and in other soil than that of central Europe; but Australia is the only country that offers any promise, while the material which the Bulgarians extract from the roses remains superior to all others. Balkan mountain roses grow in great abundance, and when cultivated yield marvelous amounts of the extract.

IN LONDON.

London Mother (to crying son, in park)—So you tried to take her hoop away, and she boxed your ears?
Well, it served you right.

Bobby—Oh, mummy, mummy,
you see I didn't know she was a suffragette.—Punch.

VINDICTIVE.

"Going to make a garden this spring?"

"No; I'm going to disappoint a lot of insects that have infested my yard for years, and I won't care a bit if some of them starve to death."

NOT SO BAD.

"Did the play have a happy ending?"

"Comparatively so. All money was refunded after the second act."

ON THE CONTRARY.

"Jubbs sold his daughter when she was married."

"No, you're mistaken there; I saw him give her away."

DANGEROUS PHILANTHROPY.

"That pretty little missionary looks to me sweet enough to eat."

"Then she had better not try to convert any of the cannibal tribes."

HIS CHANCE.

"I notice the private detective you spoke of is using an automobile."

"Oh, then he is sure to run his man down."

REDUCING THE HIGH COST OF NECESSITIES!

No goods charged, laid aside or sent out on approval at these prices.

KEEKING step with the wonderful progress of this fast growing city, we propose to give to the people of Hopkinsville the benefit of the great money-saving possibilities of an up-to-date CUT RATE DRUG STORE in its fullest meaning.

We propose to sell for cash---thus cutting out the terrible expense of bookkeeping and collecting, and what's more---the burden the credit system lays upon every prompt-paying customer, and that is---the good ones must pay the losses on the bad ones.

We will give no premiums, engage in no costly schemes to get business---that always lays an additional expense on the customer; eliminating every item of expense possible, selling only high grade goods for Cash.

Relying on the record of more than 20 years experience in the drug business, as a recommendation for reliable service, on WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, we began saving the people of this city one-fourth the cost of Drugs, Prescriptions and Drug Sundries.
